BOOK TESTIMONIALS

The often-taboo topic of money that evaded households and people in the past can now be introduced through this book as a buffer to initiate the necessary conversations and thinking. As a tool that demystifies money, the book aims to strengthen financial engagements with a strong foundation through knowledge, purpose and ultimately financial well-being.

Tladi Ditshego – Chairperson: Merchant West and Utho Capital

"As an experienced financial wellness coach, I have read many financial education books and yet I felt like most were not practical. Thank you so much for a practical, relevant and African story that will help every person who reads it to be more knowledgeable and money smart."

Promise Manyike – Financial Wellness Practitioner

"I like the theme of starting small until you are comfortable and experienced in the business. The book speaks to what many young people struggle with, who tend to believe that they must get external funding before starting their business."

Bongani Ntuli – Entrepreneur
